Spectacular homes showcased in 2020 HIA-CSR NSW Housing Awards

Delivering a magnificent property with panoramic views stretching from Dee Why to Bondi Junction, Mallinger has been awarded the coveted 2020 HIA-CSR NSW Home of the Year.

The stunning home built on a site posing both design and construction challenges also took out the NSW Custom Built Home and the Custom Built Home $2 to $4 million awards.

The HIA-CSR NSW Housing and Kitchen & Bathroom Awards showcases the achievements of builders and building professionals in the NSW housing industry.

“This year marks the 50th anniversary of the NSW awards which were announced tonight in a virtual ceremony due to COVID-19. Many of the entrants and partners tuned in from various locations across NSW allowing them to celebrate with their staff and family,” said David Bare HIA Executive Director - NSW.

Impero Constructions took out the Kitchen of the Year award, while Solitary Designer Homes won the Bathroom of the Year award.

In recognition of the future of home building the prestigious HIA NSW Roger Pysden Apprentice of the Year award went to Mitchell Rose and the NSW Business Partner award was presented to Elizabeth Searle.

Sekisui House took out three awards: Project Home, Spec Home and Townhouse/Villa Development over 10 dwellings.

Masterton Homes, McDonald Jones Homes, Eden Brae Homes and Metricon Homes all picked up awards in the highly contested display homes categories with Metricon Homes taking out Display Home of the Year.

For the 13th time Eden Brae Homes won the Professional Major Builder award with Better Built Homes taking out Professional Medium Builder and Blue Eco Homes winning the Professional Small Builder award.

Crown Group took out Apartment Complex of the Year once again, for the second year running. The Renovation/Addition Project of the Year was awarded to Turrell Building Services.

“Congratulations to all this year’s winners and finalists for their outstanding achievements in workmanship, innovation and design. The winners of major categories can look forward to progressing to the HIA-CSR Australian Housing Awards next year and I wish them every success,” concluded Mr Bare.
